Bulk Mail Rate Hike

Every now and again a pleasant surprise emerges from Congress. As when the House Post Office Committee voted to raise bulk mail postage a good bit more than a subcommittee with an over-tender regard for the bulk mailers had recommended.

The full committee's action still does not boost the postage rate on such strictly commercial items as unsolicited advertising and catalogs as high as it ought to be, considering that this flood of mail is largely profitable to the sender and should not be subsidized. The committee did, however, accept the administration's proposal to raise minimum third class rates to 3.8 cents next January.

In contrast, the subcommittee had recommended a three-phase boost that would have brought the minimum rate to only 3.5 cents by 1970. This was about what the bulk mailers had in mind, and would have been nice for them. But it also would have cost more than 53 million dollars in anticipated new revenue. The full committee has done well to call for a prompt and more substantial increase.

The end is not yet, of course; action by the full House is still to come. It would be well advised to stick with the recommendation of the full committee.

Dropout Folly

Millions of children and youths throughout the nation stand on the verge of a return to the classroom. Thousands stand on the verge of a fateful dropout from the rigors of formal education. For those thousands, whether they realize it or not, this is a time of great crisis. The course they choose will influence their welfare throughout their lives.

In simplest terms, whether they drop out of school or continue is likely to have a direct bearing on their economic future. Though there are exceptions, as a general thing annual income is geared closely to years of education. For men with less than an eighth grade education, the median income is $2,520, and from that point it ranges upward to $8,430 — well over three times as much — for college graduates.

That in itself is enough of a talking point against dropping out of school, but it is not the only one. Education also has values, in terms of self-fulfillment, that have nothing to do with income. School is often difficult, but life without enough schooling is more difficult still.

Coals To Newcastle

It must have been a stirring scene there in the well of the New York Stock Exchange, when a shower of dollar bills came fluttering down from the visitors' gallery. Nor was the effect diminished when it appeared that the dispensers of this largesse were, of all things, a group of hippies out for a lark.

Ah, well, the hippies specialize in love, love, love. What better way to demonstrate it than to toss money into the arena of the greatest money market on earth? The assembled moneymakers—those, that is, not immobilized by this affront to their dignity—must have loved gathering it up.

Congress Ponders Income Tax Increase

By EDMOND LeBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress eventually votes an income tax increase it will be from conviction that the chronically borrowing U.S. economy can't stand competition from a government trying to float $29 billion in loans in a single year. This technical, banker-like argument—more than fear of inflation or appeals to back the Vietnam effort—is the one apparently having the most impact on the House Ways and Means Committee as it continues its hearings on President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal. The argument gains force from a painfully practical demonstration last year of what happens when money gets tight—when the demands for credit by the government and the millions of individual and corporate borrowers press against the national total of savings and bank funds made available through the Federal Reserve System. Interest rates soared. Worse, credit for some purposes simply dried up. Small businesses got elbowed aside in the scramble for loans and one big, basic business—housing—suffered as higher interest rates offered elsewhere sliced away savers' funds from the institutions that traditionally finance home building.

Unemployment in the building trades went up and industries associated with construction took fright. Students seeking government-backed college loans found banks uninterested. Congressmen heard plenty from affected constituents and they haven't forgotten.

So, for many of them, the prospect of the government, faced with a deficit on the order of $29 billion, having to go into the still not-too-easy market and soak up that much credit is simply not to be contemplated.

Those who continue to oppose Johnson's proposals usually take one of two positions.

One is that the government could cut spending enough to bring the deficit down to manageable proportions—nobody thinks it can be erased—without a tax increase. At least, those who take this line insist, no tax increase should be voted until the administration has done much more budget-cutting than has yet been undertaken. A manageable deficit has been estimated at $10 billion to $15 billion.

The other main alternative offered to Johnson's program is to demand tax reform, loophole closings to raise more revenue without imposing a greater burden on all taxpayers. Many, of course, call for a combination of tax reform and spending restraint.

To all this administration spokesmen say the government is making an all-out effort to cut spending but there is no realistic possibility of reducing it enough to substitute for a tax increase.

As for tax reform, they have promised to send a bill to Congress later this year, after the increase measure is out of the way. The need for more revenue, they insist, is immediate, while loophole closing, which calls into action the last ditch defenders of every loophole, is a long and painful process.

In the fiscally happier days of 1962 and 1963, there was an effort to combine reforms with a tax cutting measure. The arguments over reforms stretched out interminably; one by one they were dropped, and the bill that finally passed had practically nothing in it but tax reduction.

Johnson's formula for handling the budget is to save some, tax some and borrow some. More and more, the argument in Congress appears to be not so much whether to accept or reject the formula, but in what proportions to spell it out.

U.S. Wide Open To Riot Activists

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Four men, trained for Mao Tse-tung's guerrilla tactics (or Fidel Castro's), could take a small riot in a major U.S. city and turn it into a Watts, a Detroit or a Newark.

Worse yet, they could take a Detroit and turn it into a holocaust which could go on for weeks or stagger on for months sporadically.

Federal authorities have reported they don't have evidence the bloody riots that have caused death and misery in several U.S. cities this summer were organized, controlled or directed by a nationwide group.

But the door is open.

Men who have worked with groups organizing riots in Asian cities have told this reporter bluntly that it would not be difficult for them, given a handful of trained men, to organize a Detroit in almost any sizable U.S. city when the time was ripe.

It is wrong, these former guerrilla leaders say, to think that a large organization would be needed. These Asians, former guerrillas, say that the major riots they have first-hand knowledge of have been directed by very small but well-trained squads.

Two men have sometimes been enough to spur on a small riot, develop it and keep it rolling in an Asian town.

Standard texts used by subversive movements in Asia and Latin America, in fact, call for using a few men — two, three, five or so. When more men or women get into the riot activist group, command and control become difficult.

There are certain standard procedures these men follow. They search out aimless youth in the riot area, play on their hates. They start out with real grievances, then whip up selected emotionally immature, frustrated youth with fears and tales of terrible things to come. These young men and women become the spearheads of senseless destruction. These are often youngsters who have already had many run-ins with the law.

In the Panama riots, Communists activists urged some of these emotional youth on to violent action. The activists played in the background, waiting. Then a few Red snipers fired at key targets to whip things up. The pattern was typical. The activist snipers fired both at U.S. troops and at the local Panamanian rioters in an attempt to build up hate to the breaking point.

In Communist standard operating procedure, well-trained activists would move from one group to another — one side of the riot to the other — alternately stirring up one side and then the opposition.

One or two of the activists, themselves white, might be with a group of white men, taking the lead in shouting epithets, urging violence against the Negroes. One or two of his Negro activist comrades might be with the Negroes, urging violence against the white man.

If this trained intervention does develop and there is nothing now to prevent it, then it will be necessary to do a lot more than train National Guard, and Army troops in formal riot control.

Ann Landers:

Comments on Deadbeats

H. By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the woman who was mad at the jewelry store because of the letter they wrote reminding her that they had "carried her longer than her mother" prompts me to write my first letter to a newspaper.

I work in a collection office and am one of those "terrible" people who writes those "ugly" letters and makes those "insulting" phone calls. We are willing to make allowances for illness and accidents and unexpected trips out of the city. We even expect people to have a lapse of memory occasionally. We operate on the theory that most people are honest and decent.

Since I have been in this line of work, however, I have learned plenty. I have had people swear at me over the phone, call me unprintable names and hang up on me because I called to remind them that they haven't paid a bill.

When we send people out to the house they sometimes hide and refuse to come to the door. They act as if we are trying to persecute them or take something away from them.

Please, Ann Landers, print my letter and let some of America's deadbeats see how they look in the eyes of others. —DISGUSTED

Dear Gus: I second the motion. And now may I add a comment? Life would be a lot less complicated if people would stop buying things they don't need at prices they can't afford to impress people who don't give a darn.

Dear Ann Landers: Your column has hit me between the eyes on more than one occasion, but never quite so hard as last week. You told the wife who complained because her husband was a TV Sports Nut that everybody is nutty in one way or another. You even said your own husband was a "work nut". Then you counseled the woman to consider herself lucky she wasn't married to a "girlie nut."

Well, Ann, I have news for you, my husband is not a "girlie nut," but I wish he were. I could fight that. He's a "buddy nut." How does a wife deal with a man who loves to be with "the boys"? It can be a card game, pool, bowling, fishing, hunting, soccer, handball — anything where men get together. If there's no buddy activity he can go to, he'll just sit in a bar and talk to the bartender. If you can come up with a solution to this you are a genius. Thank you. —BESTED BY THE BOYS

Dear Bested: Offhand I can think of a few things a wife can do for her husband that "the boys" can't. She can give him a feeling of pride and importance in a way that the boys never can. If more wives would listen to themselves talk to their husbands when they walk in at night they might get a clue as to why the guy would rather be elsewhere.

Confidential to Hadditupto here: Kwitchebellyachin'. Your parents are the ones who should be complaining, not you. They are not "sticking their noses into your business" when they insist on knowing where and with whom you are, and ask that you phone to let them know when you will be later than was agreed upon.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If an old-time recipe calls for a wineglass of liquid, it's usually safe to use from 4 to 6 tablespoons.

CHARLES THAXTONS OF WRIGHTS WED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

GREENFIELD — The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thaxton was observed August 22, with a number of close neighbors gathering at the hall in Wrights for a carry-in supper in their honor. Mrs. Keith Muntz presented them with an anniversary cake and Mrs. Carl Sheffer and Mrs. Jack Tucker decorated the tables.

The former Betty Burton and Charles Thaxton were married by Rev. W. A. Dawson in the Baptist church in Louisiana, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Dawdy, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were their attendants. Mrs. Lowell Hubbard also attended the ceremony.

The Thaxtons, who have lived most of their married life on a farm southwest of Wrights, are parents of three children, Bob of Lebanon, Ruthann and Patricia, both students at Greenfield Elementary school.

On Monday preceding their anniversary the Thaxtons returned from a trip through the Western states. They toured the Bad Lands, Black Hills, Mount Rushmore and visited relatives in Columbus Junction, Iowa and Upton, Wyoming. Their return trip took them through Denver and central Missouri.

By PHIL THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP)—Hairy the cave man didn't know what he was starting that day he stretched his whiskers across a log and chopped them off with a flint ax.

Neither did Gen. Scipio Africanus, who was a pretty good soldier as well as the first Roman believed to have indulged in a daily shave.

Men no longer use tweezers, clam shells or shark's teeth to remove their beards, but every morning millions of American men crawl out of bed and shave. Most of them gripe about this daily chore, but if they had a chance to have their beards removed permanently they'd turn it down.

The beard is a symbol of virility to a man, says Gordon Blackwell, a New York electrologist. Blackwell, who removes hair by electrolysis, says only a few men have come to him to have their beards removed.

"Most men who go in for beard removal are driven to it because they get terrible skin rashes from shaving," he says. "I've only had one man come to me and have his beard removed solely because he didn't like to shave."

Blackwell estimates it would take several hundred hours to remove a normal beard. The going rate for electrolysis, he says, is about $15 an hour.

Most men, however, use a safety razor or an electric shaver to clean the bristles off their cheeks.

The average man has about 30,000 hairs on his face, according to a spokesman for the Gillette Safety Razor Co., a leading producer of safety razors and blades. Each of these hairs grows about one-fiftieth of an inch a day.

The average man, if he begins shaving at 15 and lives the normal life span, will cut some 27½ feet of whiskers from his face over the years, the spokesman says, and spend about 3,350 hours or 139 days on the job over a 55-year period.

Supplying the blades, razors, creams, lotions, soaps and such to soothe and remove this facial foliage has grown into a multimillion-dollar industry.

Gillette, which says it sold 51 razors and 14 dozen blades in 1963, estimates that since its formation in 1901 it has produced more than 750 million razors and 120 billion blades.

Figures for the entire industry show that Americans laid out $213,640,000 for razor blades and $28,580,000 for razors in 1966, compared with $114,760,000 and $10,710,000 in 1965.

The 1966 payout for shaving preparations—creams, soaps, lotions and the like—came to $194,450,000, compared with $108,280,000 a decade earlier.

Although demand for electric shavers leveled off after 1957 and remained fairly static until 1965, the industry now reports increasing sales.

One spokesman estimates more than 7.25 million electric shavers, costing some $150 million, were sold in 1966.

Robert P. Clark, vice president-marketing for Sperry Rand Corp.'s Remington Electric Shaver Division, says the industry estimates about 47 per cent of the male shaving population uses electric units.

Regardless of what tool he uses, the average American male shaves almost two square miles of his face during his lifetime in the pursuit of beardlessness.

medical assistance program to help employers start training programs for the chronically unemployed.

Alexander, an aide to President Johnson for four years before being named commission chairman June 27th, said his young organization needs the power to issue cease and desist orders to compel employers to stop discrimination, and more money to enlarge its staff, presently 314 members. Such legislation is before Congress.

Although he spent his early years in Harlem, Alexander's education is far from that of the typical Negro slum dweller. He attended Fieldston School—one of New York's socially prominent private prep schools—on a scholarship. He worked his way through Harvard University as an insurance investigator and graduated cum laude. He holds a law degree from Yale University Law School.

Alexander, who says he has been the victim of job discrimination because of race at least three times—but refuses to discuss the incidents—believes the commission must aim "to eliminate discriminatory employment patterns based on race, sex, color, religion and nationality as soon as possible, with the emphasis on soon."

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank the doctors, Sisters and nurses of Holy Cross Hospital for their kindnesses shown to my husband during his illness and to the family after his death, also to Monsignor Driscoll, Father Spriggs, Father Venterlos and Father Cassidy for their prayers and visits. All of the 22 observers said they were satisfied with what they saw in helicopter visits to provinces ranging from the Mekong delta to the embattled 1st Corps area in the North.

But few were prepared to comment on charges that the elections were being unduly influenced by the Vietnamese military whose candidates, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu and Air Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, are expected to win.

of a German funeral march, the party's battle song and a funeral anthem, "I Had a Comrade." Later Matthias Koehl, Rockwell's successor, said an urn containing the remains would be held "in sacred trust" at the headquarters while the party goes to court.

Rockwell, 49, was shot dead last Friday. His former close aide and "propaganda minister," John C. Patler, 29, has been charged with murder.

Rockwell's brother, Robert Rockwell, said in West Barrington, R.I., that his lawyers had tried to get possession of the remains "after that disgusting exhibition (Tuesday) by those nitwits."

He said the family wanted to have a private family cremation, "but unfortunately they beat us to it. It's a totally depressing unhappy mess, I don't know just what to do. It's bewildering."

over the proposed three-year period. The Big Three offers included a 13-cent-an-hour wage hike which would be boosted in 1968 and 1969 at the annual rate of 2.8 per cent of the worker's previous wage.

The average straight-time pay to a worker in the industry is now $3.41. Including fringe benefits and other premiums the rate is about $4.70 an hour.

In the past few days the odds have shifted in favor of General Motors' being picked as the union's target. Ford was the leader in early speculation, and one union source cautioned, "Don't count Chrysler out yet."

Chrysler was the target in 1964 when current contracts providing pensions up to $400 a month at age 60 were negotiated.

Reuther, so the argument now goes, could enhance his prestige in the American labor movement by taking on GM, the country's No. 1 industrial firm.

Fires

trees with loads of men and equipment for the ground war. Smokjumper, carrying packs on their backs, leap into the smoke.

Planes fly over the green sea of trees, looking for signs of fire. Other planes, equipped with infrared devices can detect hot spots and can map terrain hidden by thick smoke or the dark of night.

The helicopters carry rescue litters for carrying injured men to hospitals.

Wednesday fires in the Willamette National Forest in Oregon broke loose and never stopped, sweeping over 7,000 acres of heavy timber. That was one of several big fires in the Pacific Northwest during the day.

In fighting the fires, strong pumps weighing only 30 pounds are put into action by firemen minutes after water is located.

Trucks carry bulldozers to the front lines and convert instantly to water tankers with inflatable tanks.

Modern packaging makes it possible to drop ground equipment from planes, including field offices, tools, water and dried and frozen food.

Men carry protective shelters on their backs which offer refuge when 750-degree fires surround them.

The Forest Service, and nearly every other fire fighting agency, uses a commercial mixture which contains ammonium sulfate, to retard fires.

So far this summer the Forest Service has dropped a million gallons in the Northwest. Besides stopping the fires, it fertilizes the soil.

Not all the weapons are new. Observers, in towers rising from the highest peaks, still watch for fires and relay radio messages to remote spots.

Thousands of men still work with picks and shovels in the face of the spreading inferno.

The fourth provincial capital hit this week was the normally sleepy town of Phan Thiet, on the coast about 95 miles east of Saigon. Mortar shells began to fall at 1:30 a.m., and when the 15-round barrage ended a small child was dead and 11 civilians were wounded.

About the same time a band of guerrillas entered the village of Cua Doi, 288 miles north of Saigon, and carried off 39 young men at gunpoint. The normal Communist tactic is to indoctrinate such captives and put them in Viet Cong units.

Pilots returning from Hoa Lac reported no MIGs on the ground but said the Communists had painted the outlines of MIGs inside sandbagged revetments to decoy U.S. planes. They also painted bomb craters on the runway to give the appearance the field was out of action.

However, Air Force officers said the field was still being used, with some MIGs parked well outside the area for towing to the runway. They said the Red jets may come down from Red China and refuel at the field before taking off on missions.

GETS 5 YEARS FOR TRUCK HIJACKING OF SILVER BARS

CHICAGO (AP) — John Ziak, 49, one of 18 persons indicted in connection with truck hijackings in 1964 and 1965, was sentenced to five years in prison Wednesday by Judge Bernard M. Decker of U.S. District Court.

Ziak was described by the government during a three-month trial as a driver who transported stolen silver bars and photographic equipment worth over $1 million.

Ziak, who pleaded guilty, is to serve the sentence concurrently with an eight-year sentence for narcotics law violations, begun last year.

Two other defendants, who pleaded guilty and testified for the government, were awaiting sentencing. They are Patrick Schang, 30, of Westchester, and Richard E. Frederick, 30, of Shabbona.

A jury convicted 13 other gang members who were dealt stiff penalties, but acquitted William (Willie) Potatoes, 54, of St. Louis, Mo., who was freed on a directed verdict of acquittal.

Another defendant, Michael (Mickey) Dee D'Alessio, 54, of Staten Island, N.Y., was freed on a directed verdict of acquittal.

CORN, BEANS SHOW SOME STRENGTH

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn futures showed some strength in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but oats, rye and soybeans were irregular.

Trade was only moderate and most prices fluctuated over a narrow margin, indicating some nervousness in the trade about taking a position in the market.

This was the first day for holders of futures to indicate whether they will accept delivery against September contracts.

Some cool weather invaded some Midwest areas overnight and this was a factor in higher prices. There also was a possibility of a grain handlers strike against Chicago area elevators after a midnight deadline Thursday.

Trade in all pits was of a local nature with only sporadic activity from commercial interests.

Reflect tightness of cash soybeans in Chicago, moving ahead close. Soybean oil trade was light and prices irregular.

Wheat was ½ to ¾ cent a bushel higher, September 1.44½; corn was ¼ to ½ higher, September 1.21; oats were unchanged to ¾ lower, September .69½; rye was unchanged to ¾ higher, September 1.17½, and soybeans were ¼ lower to ¾ higher, September 2.78½.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its upward thrust late this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Volume for the first four hours was 6,740,000 shares, compared with 5,370,000 Wednesday.

The upward movement continued a trend that began earlier this week when, in quiet sessions, the market gradually began to edge higher.

Gains outnumbered losers by 2 to 1 or better.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up about 8 points, piercing the important 900 level on the upside.

IBM ran up half a dozen points, Polaroid 4 or better, Control Data about 5, Xerox nearly 3.

Gains exceeding a point were made by Chrysler and General Motors while Ford traded unchanged. The industry awaited selection of a target company for strike action if labor negotiations fail to reach an agreement.

Fairchild Camera slipped more than 3.

Gains of a point or so were posted by such stocks as Alcoa, Anaconda, Gulf & Western, RCA, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville and Eastern and United Air Lines.

Prices rose on the American Stock Exchange.

CHRYSLER SHOWS 23 SHINY DODGES

CHICAGO (AP) — Chrysler Corp. showed off 23 models of its Dodge line Wednesday and announced that the glittering chrome and metal 1968 automobiles will be higher priced than their predecessors.

Lynn Townsend, chairman and chief executive of Chrysler, told some 250 newsmen gathered for the company's national news preview, "There seems to be little doubt that most automobile prices will be increased this fall."

Townsend said the rising costs of materials and labor and added cost to automakers for provision of the new safety devices were responsible for the price hike. Townsend said he could not say how much the increase on 1968 models would be.

One of the hardest things for a bridge player to learn is that when both opponents bid and his partner is quiet, he had best keep quiet also unless he has a lot of distributional factors.

South had a nice comfortable opening bid. His 15 high-card points included three aces and he had two nice four-card suits. He opened one diamond and waited happily for the bidding to develop.

It developed in a way that should have warned him to stay out of the bidding from then on. West overcalled with one heart and all North could do was to pass. East managed to try one no-trump. South should have seen that the hand did not belong to him and given up any idea of competing but he wasn't going to do anything like that. He had a sound opening bid with one or two jacks above the minimum and he had a second four-card suit to show. He bid two clubs.

Lightning didn't strike immediately—North had too much club support—but when it did hit it burned the barn down.

West made a slightly optimistic bid of three hearts and North went to four clubs. For all North knew his side might have a cinch for five or six clubs and East and West might have just as easy a game in hearts. If you don't think so, just trade South's jack of hearts for East's ten of diamonds. In that case only a spade lead or spade shift would beat five clubs and nothing will beat four hearts.

South's actual hand is such that a diamond opening will hold West to nine tricks at hearts. As for the four-club contract, West decided to double and the defense picked up five tricks to score 500 points.

♥♦CARD Sense♦♥

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble Pass 2 N.T.
Pass 3 ♣ Pass 3 ♥
Pass 4 ♥ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠ K 9 ♥ A J 5 4 ♦ 4 3 2 ♣ K 10 7 6

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner has bid very strongly but your king of clubs is likely to be opposite a singleton and worthless for slam purposes.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four hearts over your three hearts, your partner bids three spades. What do you do now?

The Mature Parent Why Youth Is Alienated

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
He was 13 when his father lost a status fight in his corporation and had to take a cut in his income.

Was the boy informed of this parental defeat? Don't be silly. What American parent ever confesses himself insufficient to his child. So he remained uninformed of his parents' brave, patient struggles to overcome the failure. He was kept in his "nice" private school utterly unaware of the disciplined economies that kept him there. When insomnia induced his father to seek psychiatric treatment, that, too, was kept the darkest of secrets. Yet submission to such treatment calls upon all one's resources of humility and courage. Accordingly, upon flunking two college courses least mid-term, the boy has been "tripping" via LSD—tripping away as far as he can get from his own shamefully failing and insufficient self.

"The alienated student's use of LSD represents a frustration with reality, a sense of the futility of efforts to alter the external world," says Dr. Seymour L. Halleck, director of student psychiatry at the University of Wisconsin.

I wonder, Dr. Halleck. Are the kids frustrated by reality—or by what their never-failing, never-struggling parents tell them is reality?

As to this "external world," I feel pretty "alien" to myself. It's not exactly the kind of world any person of sensibility can delight in. For it is moving through Pay-Off Time—a time when every historical mistake made by the white-man heroes of the western world are flying home to roost on this country's chickenhouse.

If I don't take off for space travel via LSD it's not because I so delight in this uncontrollable external world. It's because I don't cop out on the human race merely because its going gets tough. That's why you stick with it, too. Unlike Dr. Timothy Leary, we're no renegades. We've accepted our membership in a species whose destiny has been struggle ever since it was hatched.

What frustrates the kids are the lies we tell them about reality. Our television commercials alone are enough to frustrate anyone with their disparities between reality and fairy tale fiction. You never get dirty cleaning your house. If you use somebody's mouthwash, you're assured of success and a happy sex life. You can "come on down" to sunny Florida any time you feel like it with the help of your credit card. No, sir. If the kids are rejecting membership in their struggling species, it's because their elders feel obliged to pretend they don't belong to it, either.

Warning Signs Indicate Status Rating Loss

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is your status? Having status in America is as important as saving face is in the Orient.

Without it you're a rimless human zero, a nothing, as undistinguished as a flyspeck in a Bowers restaurant. You have no more impact on the world than a figure in a wax museum.

But with status you're a somebody. You make echoes. In time they may even throw you a testimonial dinner at which you can eat for nothing.

Since status is so important, naturally a fellow worries about achieving it and keeping it. It's the only way he can judge how he's faring in the modern rat race.

But how can a man tell whether his status is slipping? Here are a few warning signs that indicate you're on the way to becoming the low man on the totem pole:

The boss fidgets and looks the other way when you try to brighten up a dull conference with a funny story.

You have trouble keeping cockroaches out of the briefcase in which you carry your lunch to work.

When you want to play golf, you always have to call somebody else up because nobody ever calls you.

If you try to join the office bowling league, each team captain tells you his team is full.

The office boy generally delivers your mail to the wrong desk—he hasn't taken the trouble to find out who you are.

If you're an executive, the personnel department invariably tries to palm off the homeliest secretary on you.

When they send a memo around to be initialed by everyone on the staff, your initials are invariably near the bottom of the list.

At the country club the veteran bartender never tells you juicy gossip about the other members.

If there's a convivial gang gathered around the office water cooler, they break up when you approach.

If you compliment the minister on his Sunday sermon, he quickly lets go of your hands and looks over your head to see what the person standing behind you thought of it.

You've conscientiously attended PTA meetings for five full years, rain or shine, but have yet to be asked to serve on a committee.

None of your coworkers ever tries to borrow or lend you money, aspirin tablets or paper clips.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In "The Dirty Dozen," a squad of American soldier-felons pours gasoline into an underground shelter to incinerate a hundred Nazi officers and their women.

In "A Fistful of Dollars," Clint Eastwood picks a quarrel with four town toughs, then plugs each of them off a fence, like targets in a shooting gallery.

In "Beach Red," a Marine sergeant and a Japanese captain engage in a jungle duel in which the arm of one is broken by a rifle and the stomach of the other is sliced with a knife.

Such scenes typify the new cycle of film violence that has caused concern in some circles, especially during this violent summer. In seeking causes for recent racial riots, a New York Times survey of psychiatrists and psychologists cited among conditions adding to the mood of unrest:

"The accentuation of violence by television, films, newspapers and magazines, and particularly the impression this makes on children."

Dr. Lewis Austad, executive clinical director of the California Educational Center for the Emotionally Disturbed, says: "There can be no doubt that violence in movies and on television can be very disturbing to the youthful mind, especially of the nonaverage type."

"Impressions of violence can lead to imitative behavior, just as the popularity of 'Superman' contributed to an increase of accidental suicides of children who thought they could fly like him."

Movie reviewer Bosley Crowther of the New York Times recently wrote: "By habituating the public to violence and brutality—by making these hideous exercises into morbid and sadistic jokes, as is done in 'The Dirty Dozen'—these films of excessive violence only deaden their sensitivities and make slaughter seem a meaningless cliché."

The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures, successor to the Legion of Decency, condemned "Beach Red" with the comment: "In attempting to explains the inhumanity of war, this film is self-defeating because its repetitious emphasis on the realistic details of carnage and its degrading treatment of women are themselves inhuman."

Influential Martin Quigley Jr. editorialized in Motion Picture Herald: "Today, on TV and in too many films, killings are piled on killings, new and extraordinary means are found to kill and maim. An appeal is made to sadism and perversity."

"But worst of all, life so often is shown to be 'cheap,' to be expendable at the will or whim of the hero—or antihero, as the case may be. Killing the adversary is the easy way out, the almost inevitable solution. Morality and respect for human dignity hardly count."

How did movies get this way? The cause may well be attributed to James Bond, who caught the public fancy with a new kind of cool killing. A flood of imitators followed, with even more variations of torture and brutality.

The success of the Clint Eastwood films, especially in Europe, has impelled other makers of Westerns to attempt new violence. "The Dirty Dozen" expects a U.S. gross of $20 million to $25 million.

Depiction of violence in films once was governed by stringent principles in the industry's self-censorship code—"Action showing the taking of human life is to be held to a minimum. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified."

But the advent of Jack Valenti as president of the Producers

Association swept away the old code except for a few generalities. The new provision reads: "Detailed and protracted acts of brutality, cruelty, physical violence, torture and abuse shall not be presented."

The man who applies this yardstick is Geoffrey Shurlock, code administrator. Says he: "You treat violence as you do profanity and drinking—each picture has its own guidelines. As the story merits violence, we approve it."

Shurlock doubts the theory that violence on the screen inspires viewers to actual violence. Instead he sees violence as a release for frustrated energies.

"For psychiatrists to blame the movies for what happened in Detroit is nonsense," he says. "If the Negroes who rioted this summer had more time and money to go to movies, they wouldn't have rioted. I think it's significant that there wasn't a movie theater in Watts when the riots took place there."

"I hate violence myself. But as long as the public accepts it, I will have to approve it in films."

Cornel Wilde, who directed and starred in "Beach Red," denied that his film was excessively violent.

"It is less violent than a James Bond or a Matt Helm picture," said Wilde. "What I did was a very realistic and highly subjective film about war. It would be foolish to depict a war without violence. But I didn't inject violence gratuitously."

Robert Aldrich, who directed "The Dirty Dozen," rejected the notion that the violent nature of the film is the reason for its success. Said he: "I think we gauged more accurately than most film

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Heart Attack Victim Should See Specialist

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
(First of Two Related Articles.)

Q — What is the medical name for a heart attack? Is it a heart disease? What causes it? Is it serious? What is the treatment?

A — Myocardial infarction is the condition that results when the circulation to the heart muscle is cut off by a blood clot or hardening of the arteries. It is serious but, if the victim is allowed to rest for about six weeks, new channels of circulation become established and the victim can gradually increase his activity. He must, however, avoid excessive fatigue and attacks of chest pain.

Q — I have arteriosclerotic heart disease with infarction. I am taking Librium, Persantin and dicumarol. What are they for? Must I take them for the rest of my life?

A — Librium is a mild tranquilizer. Persantin is given to dilate your blood vessels. Dicumarol is an anticoagulant. You should take them as long as your doctor feels that you need them unless they cause undesirable side effects. In time you should be able to discontinue the Librium and dicumarol.

Q — A few years ago I had a coronary heart attack and the doctor prescribed digitalis. Now my family doctor says I don't need it. Would it be safe to continue to take it anyway? Which of these drugs — Isordil and Peritrate — is the better for my heart?

A — Digitalis is given to strengthen your heart beat. Since the dosage should be carefully adjusted to meet your individual needs it should not be taken if you don't need it. Anyone who is taking this drug regularly should receive supplementary potassium as a salt or in his diet.

Isordil and Peritrate are both given to dilate the blood vessels in persons who have attacks of angina pectoris. A trial period with each, under medical supervision, should determine which is best for you.

Q — My husband has had four attacks of myocardial infarction. He is now taking Coumadin, Cardilate, Librium, Hydrodiuril, Digoxin, Empirin and, when he needs it, nitroglycerin. Do you think it is necessary for him to take so many drugs? Should he see a heart specialist? What would cause him to vomit every morning?

A — Your husband is indeed a walking drugstore. Coumadin is an anticoagulant, Cardilate and nitroglycerin are blood vessel dilators, Hydrodiuril is a diuretic, Digoxin is a digitalis preparation and Empirin is a form of aspirin. It should not be necessary to take all these drugs for a prolonged period.

It is always wise to see a heart specialist if one has had a heart attack. There are many causes of vomiting. They include severe attacks of angina pectoris and taking too much medicine, especially digitalis.

ASHLAND CLUB TO OPEN FALL SEASON SEPT. 7

ASHLAND — The Ashland Federated Junior Woman's Club will hold its first meeting of the fall at the home of Mrs. John Cosner at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7. All prospective members are welcome.

A card party is planned and everyone is to dress in casual clothes. The social committee, consisting of Mrs. Richard Petefish, Mrs. Norman Akerlund, Mrs. Fred Unland and Mrs. Pat Devlin, will be in charge.

Ashland Notes
Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbs and Georgia Ann have returned home from a 1,500 mile vacation trip through the Missouri Ozarks including Meramac Cavern, Lake of the Ozarks, Silver Dollar City, Table Rock Lake, and Shepherd of the Hills Country.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Donovan and family have returned to their home in Alexandria, Va., after a week's visit here at the home of the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edwards. Mr. Donovan graduated from Ashland High School in 1938.

Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Morris have returned from a week's visit with their son and family in Michigan.

Ashland Brothers Promoted

Larry Sample Gerald Sample
ASHLAND—Larry A. Sample and Gerald E. Sample, sons of Mrs. Bernice Sample of Ashland, route one, recently received promotions in their service training.

Larry has been promoted to Airman 2C in the Administration Department of the Strategic Air Command Division, Carswell AFB at Fort Worth, Texas. He received his basic training at Lackland AFB in San Antonio, Texas.

Sample is a 1965 graduate of Jacksonville High School, and before he entered the military service he was an installer for the General Telephone Company in Indiana.

Gerald has been promoted to Technical Sergeant in the Illinois Air National Guard. He is a member of the 183rd Tactical Fighter Group, stationed at Capitol Airport in Springfield.

Sergeant Sample has been a member of the Guard since 1962. As a result of his promotion, he will serve as an administrative supervisor with the Springfield unit.

Sample is a graduate of Jacksonville High School.

TITO ADVANCES MIDDLE EAST PEACE PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson received from President Tito's foreign minister Wednesday night a plan by the Yugoslav leader to bring about a Middle East peace.

Foreign Minister Marko Nikezic flew in from Belgrade and immediately hurried to the White House with the personal message from Tito.

Presidential press secretary George Christian had no comment on Tito's proposal or on the President's session with Nikezic.

Johnson had sent Tito a letter shortly before the Yugoslav chief began his recent swing through Cairo, Baghdad and Damascus.

Other administration sources doubted that Tito's effort would bring about a settlement at this time in view of the bitter differences remaining between Israel and her Arab opponents.

But Secretary of State Dean Rusk arranged to explore the situation further with Nikezic Thursday morning before the Yugoslav envoy, formerly Tito's ambassador to Washington, takes his plan to U.N. Secretary General U Thant in New York.

In Japan, bowling is the fastest-growing participation sport. There are now about 1.7 million regular bowlers in Japan.

Renovate Blackboard With Vinegar or Paint

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—Perhaps Nedra's kitchen blackboard cannot be written on because of a greasy residue from cooking.

To eliminate this, clean with warm water to which a small amount of vinegar has been added. This will make the blackboard clean and free of all grease.—JOYCE

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Nedra whose kitchen blackboard is so smooth that the chalk slides and will not write. All she needs is a can of good blackboard paint, such as is available in hardware stores. Several coats may be needed but the chalk will hold again.—A READER

DEAR GIRLS—It seems these letters might be Step 1 and Step 2. One certainly would not want to apply the blackboard paint to a greasy board and those in the kitchen would probably have some on the surface. This paint works well as I once used it to make a blackboard on the end of a cabinet in a small kitchen that had no wall space for hanging one.—POLLY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Our bathroom window is right over the tub and the bottom part of my drapes is starting to get moldy. They are made out of four expensive bath towels, white with shades of blue and purple in the design. I would appreciate a Pointer that would tell me how to remove this mold from the drapes and also if there is anything I can do to prevent further mold.—J. J.

DEAR POLLY—To remove the stem and basket from glass percolators in order to pour the coffee, trim a wooden clothespin 1/4-inch from the tip so that it is squared across. This makes a handy instrument to remove the hot stem, much better than a pot-holder.

To successfully hang a picture that has a small ring to fit over the picture hook, use a thread passed through the ring and hold as close to the hook as possible. The ring follows the thread to the hook much easier.—MRS. V. A. H.

ACUTE SHORTAGE of animal skins in the area is obviously the reason for the scanty, ragged attire of this nature girl of the Brazilian wilds. Actually her name is Celeste Yarnall, who has a shortage of very little, and the obvious environment for a costume like this is on a movie set, where she has her first starring role in "The Two Faces of Eve."

Corn From the Cob Meets Shrimp From the Sea

FRESH CORN AND SHRIMP make delicious salad.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Fresh sweet corn will continue plentiful during September, we are happy to report. So enjoy it and all its delicious variations. Try fresh kernels mixed with shrimp in a surprise salad. And, as you know, scalloped fresh corn and tomatoes is a succulent vegetable dish.

Corn And Shrimp Salad
1-3 cups cooked corn, cut off the cob (approximately 4 ears)

1 cup chilled peeled and deveined cooked shrimp
1 cup diced fresh green pepper
1/2 cup diced fresh celery
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
Head lettuce
Mix corn with shrimp, green pepper and seasonings. Add mayonnaise and lemon juice and toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Six servings.

Scalloped Corn And Tomatoes
6 strips bacon
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon bacon fat
2 fresh tomatoes, sliced
1 fresh green pepper, finely chopped
3 cups fresh corn, cut off the cob
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 slice tomato, 1/2-inch thick
Slightly cook bacon. Place strips around sides of a 1-quart baking dish, having ends extend to top of dish. Mix bread crumbs with bacon fat and sprinkle into casserole. Top with a layer each of sliced tomatoes, green pepper and corn, mixed with salt, sugar, black pepper and onion. Repeat using remaining vegetables. Dot with butter. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) one hour or until vegetables are thoroughly cooked. About 30 minutes before baking time is up, arrange slice of tomato on top of casserole. Sprinkle with salt and ground black pepper. Eight servings.

Speedy Streak Cops Rich Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Speedy Streak captured the $122,650 Hambletonian trot in successive heats Wednesday with times of 2:00 and 2:01.

It was only the third triumph in 10 starts this year for Speedy Streak, the most expensive standard-bred ever sold at auction.

Speedy Streak, driven by Del Cameron, cost his owners—Kenneth D. Owen of Houston, Tex., C. F. Gaines of Sherburne, N.Y., and John R. Gaines of Lexington, Ky.—$113,000 as a yearling.

The victory was worth $60,098 to Speedy Streak.

In the second heat, Speedy

Streak won by two lengths over Flying Cloud, an unofficial 30-1 shot, raced ahead after the first quarter-mile of the second heat. Keystone Pride went to the front after a half-mile and stayed there swinging into the home turn.

During this time, Cameron—collecting his third Hambletonian trophy—had Speedy Streak in sixth place.

As the field neared the head of the stretch — while a crowd of 25,000 roared—Speedy Streak was flying at the finish. Flying Cloud was fifth, followed in order by Armbrist, Harold, Miss Marker, Pomp, Skymaster, Arden Vance, the heavily-favored Dazzling Speed and Murray Mir.

In the first heat, Speedy Streak's victory margin was an official four lengths over Keystone Pride. This was one of the largest winning advantages in the big race which was moved to Du Quoin from Goshen, N.Y., in 1957.

In both heats, Speedy Streak was brilliantly rated by Cameron.

In the first heat, Speedy Streak wore down the pacesetter, Flying Cloud, who finished second.

The Hambletonian victory was the second for Cameron as a catch driver. Cameron, 47, native of Harvard, Mass., has been driving Speedy Streak in place of Frank Ervin, who has been ill.

Cameron also won the 1965 Hambletonian as a catch driver for Egyptian Cander. He was the regular trainer-driver in 1954 when he won the Hambletonian with Newport Dream.

Expected Tougher Time

"I really thought the race would be tougher," said Cameron. "After all, Speedy Streak is practically a green horse. He went through most of his 2-year-old campaign with an infection in the heels of his front feet. A dermatologist finally diagnosed the trouble as a fungus and the colt had x-ray treatment in a lead-lined stall."

Speedy Streak got off to a slow start this year with his first success coming in mid-July at Vernon Downs. He started coming along when he did his 1:59 4-5 in the second heat of the Review Futurity at Springfield, Ill., Aug. 15. His two-year earnings now total $94,776.

Cameron revealed that he missed possible disaster by only an inch on the back stretch of the first heat.

"Ambro Harold nearly locked wheels with me and I would say he came as close as an inch of doing it," said Cameron. "It was a real scare. Just at that time, there was something going on behind me and if we had locked I know that we would have been knocked out of the race for good."

Cubs' 4-Run Sixth Nets 4-1 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs exploded for four runs on four singles and an error in the fifth inning Wednesday to defeat Houston 4-1.

Shortstop Don Kessinger

opened the spurt with a one out single. Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams followed with safeties to balance the Astro's first inning run. After Ron Santo walked to fill the bases, Ernie Banks' infield out produced the second run.

The third scored on Joe Morgan's error, and Randy Hundley singled for the fourth.

ILLINI FULLBACK TO PLAY BASEBALL

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Clyde Kuehn, top sophomore fullback prospect from Belleville, informed Coach Jim Valer of the University of Illinois Wednesday he intends to play varsity baseball only and will not report for football Friday.

Kuehn, 200-pounder, is a hard-hitting outfielder who turned down a Chicago Cubs offer when he was graduated from High school.

Kuehn was one of three sophomores listed at fullback where Valer's only seasoned performer is junior Rich Johnson.

It was the third loss of a sophomore prospect for the new Illini coach, Bob Bess of Bloomington and Charles Bareither of Urbana, both secondary backs, recently underwent emergency appendectomies. They will miss at least three weeks of practice.

Johnson, Fairly Spark Dodgers Past Giants, 9-3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lou Johnson and Ron Fairly each drove in three runs leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Wednesday.

Johnson belted a three-run double following three walks in the fifth inning off Giant starter Ray Sadecki giving the Dodgers a 4-2 lead.

Fairly entered the game as a pinch-hitter following Johnson's hit and singled in the fourth run of the inning. He added a two-run homer in the seventh.

Don Drysdale, 10-13, got the victory, his 32nd career win over the Giants, but had to leave the game in the seventh because of an arm injury. Sadecki, 6-6, took the loss.

Reds Keep Second With 2-1 Triumph

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tommy Harper walked and scored on Pete Rose's bloop double in the sixth inning to give Cincinnati a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday night.

WOODSON HAS HOPES

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Coach Warren Woodson says his 1967 New Mexico State University football team may be better offensively than his 1966 squad.

Last year, the Aggies averaged 32.1 points per game and compiled a 7-3 mark.

Woodson thinks his 1967 team could be better than the undefeated 1960 NMSU squad except for the wingback and end positions.

Rose's double broke a 1-1 tie and helped Mill Pappas to his 14th victory in 23 decisions with ninth inning relief help from Ted Abernathy.

The Phils went ahead in the first inning on John Briggs' eighth home run, but the Reds tied the game in the second when Tommy Helms tripled and scored on John Bench's sacrifice fly.

The defeat was charged to Chris Short, 6-8.

Home run — Philadelphia, Briggs (8).

Agee Keys Sox To 5-1 Victory Over Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tommie Agee keyed three Chicago rallies with two singles and a double as the White Sox defeated the Washington Senators 5-1 Wednesday night.

The victory kept the fourth place White Sox 2½ games back of first place Boston in the American League race.

Fred Klages and Bob Locker combined on the eight-hitter with Klages working the first six innings before leaving for a pinch hitter.

Chicago touched veteran Camilo Pascual for three runs and five hits in only three innings.

Washington's only run came in the eighth when Ed Stroud tripled and scored on an infield out.

Cater's 5th Hit Lets Athletics Nip Indians, 6-5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Danny Cater's fifth hit of the night scored Mike Hershberger from third with the winning run in the 12th inning as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-5 Wednesday night.

Hershberger opened the 12th with a double, and Ramon Webster was purposely walked. Then losing pitcher Steve Hargan threw late trying to force Hershberger at third on Jim Gosger's bunt. That loaded the bases and Cater followed with his winning hit.

The A's had tied the game 5-5 in the eighth on a walk, a single by Cater, a sacrifice and Dick Green's sacrifice fly.

Robb Has Surgery
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe Robb, defensive end with the St. Louis football Cardinals, underwent exploratory surgery on his left knee Wednesday.
The 30-year-old veteran has been bothered with the knee injury since early in the training season.
The knee was injured again Saturday in a game with Pittsburgh in Nashville, Tenn.
Robb will be lost for at least four weeks and possibly more.

Jaster, Cardinals Blank New York 2-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tim McCarver drove in a pair of runs with his 12th homer and a sacrifice fly in leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-0 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night.

McCarver hit his homer in the second inning off rookie Danny Frisella.

Roger Maris walked to lead off the sixth and Orlando Cepeda sent him to third with a single. McCarver followed with a line drive to the rightfielder, scoring Maris.

Nicklaus Captures Golf's Richest Win

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Powerhouse Jack Nicklaus stood off a spirited stretch rally by Dan Sikes Wednesday and won golf's richest purse—$50,000—with a 72-hole score of 272, 16 under par, in the Westchester Classic. Sikes finished a shot back at 273.

JACK NICKLAUS

Open champion in this $250,000 event, but none except Sikes managed a serious challenge on this closing day of bright sunshine over the tight, 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course.

De Vicenzo Third

Roberto de Vicenzo, the 44-year-old Argentine who scored a popular victory last month in the British Open, fired a 70 for 274 and the third money of $18,750.

Gary Player of South Africa, winner of every major crown, finished fourth with a 71 for 275 and Palmer the all-time leading money winner, sank a six-foot putt on the final hole for 276 and fifth place. Player collected $12,500 and Palmer $10,750.

Then came Doug Sanders, with 71 for 277, followed by club pro Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex., and Chi Chi Rodriguez, the happy Puerto Rican, tied at 278.

Pirates Outlast Atlanta, 11-9, In Free Swinger

ATLANTA (AP) — Roberto Clemente's two-run double capped a four-run fourth inning for Pittsburgh and carried the Pirates to a 11-9 victory over Atlanta Wednesday night.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre had helped the Braves build a 6-4 lead but the Pirates came back in the fourth with Clemente's hit giving them the lead again.

Matty Alou paced the Pirate attack with four hits and scored three times. Willie Stargell had a two-run double and his 18th home run for Pittsburgh.

Yastrzemski HR Wins For Sox, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, who entered the game in the eighth inning, blasted his 35th home run of the season Wednesday, snapping a tie and giving Boston a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees in 11 innings.

The victory temporarily boosted the Red Sox' American League lead to one game over Minnesota and Detroit, both of which played later in the evening.

Al Downing, 12-8, went all the way for the Yankees and struck out 12 Boston batters, allowing eight hits before Yastrzemski's shot into the right-field stands with two out in the inning.

Yastrzemski, who started the game on the bench after Boston's marathon doubleheader with the Yankees Tuesday night, had been hitless in 18 at bats until his homer which gave him the major league lead in that department. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota has 34.

Randy Johnson

Norb Hecker

Atlanta Falcons

GENERAL COMMENT — Falcons right on schedule for an expansion team, which means they have to keep losing before they start winning. Like with most young teams, the problem is welding an adequate defense, and at least coach Norb Hecker has a start with rookie-of-year Tommy Nobis.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Indisputably, the responsibility falls on soph Randy Johnson, who drove Dennis Clardige right into retirement. Randy's a comer, but no telling exactly when. Rating—B-

RECEIVING — Acquiring Tom Moore to play flanker gives 'em sure hands but doesn't increase speed. Angie Coia is only threat in that department and he's aging. Alex Hawkins, lead catcher in '66, doesn't run away from people, either. Tossup between Taz Anderson, Billy Martin at tight end. Rating—B-

RUNNING — Switch of Ron Smith from defense could put 'em at full throttle. Hecker envisions combo of Smith and Junior Coffey, who thrived with work last year. Ernie Wheelwright gives them a power back-up man. Among newcomers, Joe Williams, ex-Canada, has chance. Rating—B

LINE — Could be most stable part of club: Frank Marchlewski, center; Ed Cook, Dan Grimm, guards; Errol Linden, Don Talbert, tackles. And still have Lou Kirovac, who doubles as placekicker. Got Jim Wilson, Georgia product, from 49ers to boost the guard contingent. Rating—B

KICKING — Kirovac has competition from soccer-stylist Sandor Szabo on placements; Bill Lothridge still handles the punting.

DEFENSE

LINE — The most worries here. Fellows like Sam Williams getting old, others like Bob Richards, Karl Rubke not getting any better. Could be a turnover when fellows like Jim Norton, ex-49er, huge rookie Leo Carroll are fitted into the system. Joe Szczeko's still puzzling type-setters. Rating—C

LINEBACKERS — With Nobis as an anchor, they can even afford the retirements of Bill Jobko, Larry Morris, Marion Rushing, Ralph Hecker are in line for the corner jobs. The future offers George Patton, an All-American tackle at Georgia. Could be thin. Rating—B-

SECONDARY — Development of Ken Reeves freed Smith for offense. Ken'll be at one corner, Lee Calland or Nick Rassas at the other. Bob Riggles, most pleasant surprise of '66, and Jerry Richardson hold down the safety jobs in good style. They'd still like to uncover another class performer or two. Rating—C+

SUMMARY — The Falcon's aspirations to better their three wins of '66 aren't helped by being in the same division with the Rams, Colts and 49ers. They should be able to move the ball O.K., but need help up front on defense. PREDICTION — Last in Coastal Division.

Detroit Lions

Wayne Walker

KICKING — Little Garo Ypreman hangs in there as the soccer style field goal booter, with Wayne Walker for emergencies. Studstill is tops as punter.

DEFENSE

LINE — Even with Darris McCord, in his 13th season, starting to wear out, there's no real worry. Other end, Larry Hand, is a good one. Tackle duo of Roger Brown, Alex Karras remains best, would be even better if they learned to like each other. Jerry Rush is behind them. Rookie named Lew Kamano could help out McCord. Rating—B+

LINEBACKERS — Bright rookie like Paul Naumoff is going to have to wait his turn because no one's moving out starting set of Wayne Walker (all-pro type), Ernie Clark at corners, Mike Lucci (developing fast) in middle. Wally Hugenberg, in fact, gets first relief call. Rating—B+

SECONDARY — No apparent change here, either, with Bob Thompson, Dick LeBeau returning at corners, Bruce Maher and Wayne Rasmussen at safeties. Tommy Vaughn could push Rasmussen. Rookie Lem Barney might make Thompson step a little livelier to hang in there. Rating—B

SUMMARY — The whole problem of the Lions is to find a quarterback who can generate consistent leadership. The defense, as proud Lion tradition should be up to past crews. The offense has an injection of running backs who'll give it a new image. Of course, Joe Schmidt also has to prove himself as a coach. PREDICTION — Third in Central division.

CUBS RECALL FOUR AND BUY CALMUS

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs announced Wednesday the recall of four farm system players and the purchase of pitcher Dick Calmus, a 23-year-old right-hander, from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

Calmus, who has won six and lost nine for Tacoma, will report Friday when the Cubs play their first of four straight double-headers. Earlier this season, Tacoma obtained Calmus from the Los Angeles Dodgers in a farm system deal for pitcher Fred Norman.

The four recallees, who will report to Chicago in Los Angeles Sept. 6, are pitcher Dick James, outfielders George Altman and Bob Raudman and first baseman-catcher Johnny Boccabella.

Both Altman and Boccabella played for the Cubs earlier in the season before being assigned to Tacoma.

Ferris Sparks U.S. Sweep Of 7 Golf Medals

TOKYO (AP) — John Ferris, an 18-year-old entering Stanford this fall, slashed the world record for the 200-meter butterfly to 2:06.0 Wednesday night in leading the all-winning United States' swimming and diving team to a sweep of all seven gold medals in the World University Games.

The vaunted Americans have won all 20 events in three nights in the Olympic pool and have smashed seven listed world records. Four of the times are the best ever, including Ferris' record.

The youngster from Carmichael, Calif., eclipsed the official record of 2:06.6, set by Australia's Kevin Berry in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, and the pending mark of 2:06.4, racked up by 17-year-old Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., in the Pan-American Games at Winnipeg July 26.

Olympian Carl Robie of Drexel Hill, Pa., was second in 2:09.1. The Yanks have collected 10 second place silver medals and four bronze medals, also, in the magnificent indoor swimming stadium.

The other winners Wednesday included Ken Merten, Pacoima, Calif., 200-meter breaststroke, 2:31.2; the men's 800-meter freestyle relay team anchored by Robie, 7:56.5; Olympic champion Lesley Bush, Princeton, N.J., women's platform diving, 528.30 points.

Kendis Moore, Phoenix, Ariz., women's 100-meter backstroke, 1:07.9; Cynthia Goyette, Detroit, women's 200-meter breaststroke, 2:50.1; and Martha Randall, Philadelphia, women's 100-meter butterfly, 1:06.9.

The other members of the men's relay team were Greg Charlton, Arcadia, Calif.; John Nelson, Pompano Beach, Fla., and Charles Hickcox, Phoenix, Ariz. Hickcox shattered the world records for 100 and 200 meters backstroke in the first two nights.

Rain Wipes Out Amateur Rounds

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — First round scores in the 1967 United States Amateur Golf Championship were washed out Wednesday and officials said that, weather permitting, the event would wind up Saturday with two rounds.

An 18-hole round will be played Thursday and a second round, also of 18 holes, is scheduled for Friday. With the field cut from 150 to the low 50 and ties, another 18-hole round will be played Saturday forenoon and the decisive final round after lunch that day.

Play started at 9 a.m., EDT, Wednesday with the fairways slick from a heavy mist and fog. When Philip Strubing of Philadelphia, chairman of the USGA Championship Committee, called an end to play because of flooded greens, 39 of the players had their scores posted.

Best of them was a one-over-par 71 by Bill Harvey, a 36-year-old salesman from Greensboro, N.C., who had six one-putt greens despite the atrocious weather conditions.

Next best was a pair of 72s by Mike Mitchell of Houston, captain of last year's University of Houston NCAA championship team, and Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., who has been an amateur contender for 37 years.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., the defending champion; William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., the 1964 winner, and Robert C. Smith of Sacramento, Calif., the Western Amateur king were on the first tee when the decision was made to stop play.

Problems 'Solved'; Browns Seem Ready

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — By trading some and satisfying others, owner Art Modell has brought his Cleveland Browns to the point where they can concentrate on football. It remains to be seen what disruptive influence, if any, the mass holdout campaign will have on the Browns.

John Brown, who shared an offensive tackle post with Monte Clark last year, has been traded to Pittsburgh. Sidney Williams, who wanted to be guaranteed a starting linebacker job in half the exhibitions, went to the New York Giants.

The return of running back Leroy Kelly and guard John Wooten to the training camp assured Coach Blanton Collier of a veteran offensive team. Kelly, of course, was a revelation last year as a replacement for Jim Brown when he ground out 1,141 yards. He and Ernie Green will handle the heavy running chores.

Frank Ryan is being used sparingly in the preseason games to strengthen the right elbow that required surgery last January. Despite the aching elbow that required constant medication, Ryan threw 29 touchdown passes last year. Assuming the arm is sound, he should be even better.

The arrival of Milt Morin as a top flight tight end in his rookie year gave the Browns a fine trio of receivers. The 6-foot-4, 250-pounder missed three games due to a leg injury but had an impressive first year.

Paul Warfield has had a full year to recover from the shoulder injury of 1965 and is ready to team with flanker Gary Collins and Morin as one of the most feared trio of receivers in the league. Clifton McNeil and Epine Barney, a No. 3 draftee from Iowa State, also are long ball threats.

Ryan's backup man probably will be Dick Shiner, ex-Washington Redskins or Gary Lane, a second year pro, who spent most of his first year as a running back and on defense before he went to the taxi squad. Jim Ninowski balked at terms because he was unhappy about starting another year, at the age of 31, as second string to Ryan. Modell traded him to Washington for Shiner.

The return of Wooten to team with Gene Hickerson at the guards and the availability of Dick Schafrath and Clark at tackle and Fred Hoaglin at center gives the Browns a solid front line which is especially effective at protecting the passer. Rookies Joe Taffoni of Tennessee and John DeMarie of LSU are prospects.

Lou Groza, the 43-year-old place kicker who holds a book full of NFL records, is making a strong fight in his 17th year in the league—21 as a pro—to stave off the challenge of rookie punter-placement kicker Don Cockroft of Adams State.

Groza skidded off to only nine field goals in 23 attempts last year so the Browns drafted a kicker. Groza is kicking the ball with his old form in camp but Cockroft has been erratic so far.

Lack of capable reserves and the age of some key men flash a caution signal on the Browns' defensive side. Both ends, Paul Wiggins and Bill Glass are 32 and the middle linebacker, Vince Costello, is 35. Two of the old boys, tackle Dick Modzelewski and linebacker Galen Fliss, have retired along with defensive back Bobby Franklin.

Wiggins and Glass again will be at the ends and Jim Kanicki and Walt Johnson or Frank Parker at the tackles on the front four. Dale Lindsey may beat out Costello for middle linebacker with Jim Houston and John Brewer at the outside jobs.

Erich Barnes and Mike Howell are due to man the corners and Ernie Kellerman and injured Ross Fichtner the safety posts. Carl Ward, an offensive back at Michigan, is considered a backup possibility.

Among the better liked rookies are running back Larry Conjar of Notre Dame, defensive end Jack Gregory of Chattanooga, Demarie, Tiffone, Cockroft and Ward. Cecil Dowdy, an offensive tackle at Alabama with a great reputation, has been getting a look at line-backer.

Illini Flanker Situation Good, Led By Wright

CHAMPAIGN — Bolstered by a potential All-America in split end John Wright, Illinois' flanker situation for 1967 appears good. Even the moving to defensive halfback of two-year starter at defensive end, Co-Captain Ken Kniec, doesn't tarnish the outlook.

Wright, who prepped at Wheaton but now lives in Champaign, where his father is the Illini track coach, ranked fourth in the nation in pass receiving last fall among players who return for 1967. He picked off ten aeriels for 831 yards and four touchdowns.

Wright holds virtually every pass receiving record in the Illinois book, despite the fact that he has a full season of competition still ahead. His goals are the two standards which don't bear his name—yards by pass receiving in one game (190 by Rex Smith vs. Iowa in 1952) and on one play (90 by Mike Yavorski vs. Ohio State in 1962).

The 6-0, 193-pound senior set a state record of 18.9 in winning the 180-yard hurd hurdle at the 1964 state high school track meet. He was a first-team All-American Academic choice last fall and Midwest Lineman of the week after he gained 136 yards through pass receptions against Wisconsin.

The other offensive end, also a two-year regular, is Craig Timko, 6-2, 213-pound senior from Riverside (Riverside-Brookfield). He caught 17 passes for 252 yards last year, and excelled as a blocker.

Exciting Soph

Expected to be backup man for Wright and Timko is an exciting sophomore, 6-2, 220-pound Len Wislow, Chicago (Taft). He drew praise from coaches during spring practice and caught two passes for 26 yards in the final intrasquad game.

A fourth contender at the spot is Mike Murawski, 6-2, 215, junior, from Lockport. A prep All-American, he also has potential as a punter.

Moving of Kniec from left defensive end resulted in elevation to first team of junior Doug Whitman, 6-0, 206, Canton, who played 36 minutes last fall and showed further improvement during off-season drills. Whitman's father, Frank, is the former Chicago White Sox and Cubs shortstop.

Whitman will team with Dick Tate, 6-0½, 201, Mattoon senior. He became a regular in mid-season last fall, and responded with 25 tackles for the year. He is fourth brother of his family to play Big Ten football, having been preceded by Bill at Illinois, Jim at Purdue, and Reg at Northwestern.

Principal support at the position will come from Jeff Kiser, 6-0, 200, Naperville (Downers Grove North), and John Mauzy, 6-2, 196, Elmhurst (York), both sophomores.

Purdue, with a 6-1 Big Ten record last year, has an 89-man football roster.

Miami Will Still Bank On Defense

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Just because George Wilson has changed leagues doesn't mean he's changed philosophies.

During his eight years as coach of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, Wilson established a reputation as a builder of rugged and stingy defenses.

Now in his second year with the Miami Dolphins of the American League, Wilson still believes in defensive football.

"You'll have to have a great defensive unit," said Wilson, who coached the Dolphins to three victories in their first year of operation, equaling the most victories by an expansion team.

"Your defense will get the ball back for you all the time, and with a good defense, you're not going to have big scores. Oh, there are games where there is a big score, but that's just something that gets started and you can't stop."

Need Pass Rush

"At Detroit we had two great defensive tackles who put a heck of a rush on the passer. That's what we're working toward now. The rush on the passer is getting better. You can't let the quarterback stand there or he'll hit his receivers. You have to throw his timing off."

Wilson's work with the defense paid off in at least one respect last year. The neophyte Dolphins allowed fewer points than two other teams that had been in the league from the start—Denver and Houston.

It's no surprise then that Wilson is somewhat upset by the loss of safetyman Willie West for possibly the first half of the season because of a shoulder separation.

"His loss hurts to a certain extent," Wilson said. "The defensive secondary was starting to work together, which is a big thing. That's what I was hoping for with this group."

Wilson, however, still has Dick Westmoreland, Jimmy Warren, Bob Neff and Pete Jaquess plus rookie Tom Beier.

The linebacking is solid with Wahoo McDaniel, Frank Emanuel, Jerry Hopkins and John Bramlett constituting a good corps.

The line has ends Ed Cooke and either Mel Branch or Bob Petrich and tackles Ray Jacobs and Tom Nomina.

Quarterback Battle

The Dolphins started out in camp with four young quarterbacks competing for the starting job, and John Stofa appears to be winning out over the three high-priced signal-callers, Bob Griese, Jon Brittenum and Dick Norton.

Sam Price has moved Billy Joe out of the fullback job while Joe Auer, Miami's leading rusher last season, will share the halfback spot with Abner Haynes, who was acquired from Denver in a big seven-player deal.

Two men are fighting for each of the three receiving jobs with flanker Frank Jackson, split end Karl Noon and tight end Dave Kocourek appearing to have a slight edge over Jack Clancy, Howard Twilley and Doug Moreau.

The rest of the offensive line is made up of tackles Maxie Williams and Norm Evans, guards Freddie Woodson and Billy Neighbors and center Tom Goode.

Plant Pollen Becomes Archaeological Tool

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Pollen, the tiny structure produced by all flowering plants, has become an important tool for archaeological research in the Museum of New Mexico's research laboratory.

Sometimes 100 million years old, pollen is found in archaeological digs on just about every level.

After treating these microscopic specks, the researcher can identify the parent plant and the climate it grew in. The pollen analyst then knows whether the Indians who lived during that time faced a dry period or a wet one, a cold climate or a warm one. This knowledge in turn gives the archaeologist some insight into how ancient men lived.

The new tool, together with dating methods such as stratigraphy, tree-ring analysis, carbon dating and magnetic pole orientation, is one of an array of methods for fixing the age of artifacts and ruins.

There also may come a time when the study of climatic patterns will let man chart future climate conditions.

Alan Neff

Ten-year-old Alan Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Neff of Murrayville route one, poses proudly with a ten pound carp he caught last week. Alan, who landed the fish without any help, said his arms were still aching the next day. The family and a few close friends enjoyed a fish fry the following Sunday. Alan will be a sixth grade student at Murrayville this fall.

4-H Club Activities

The Lynnville Hustlers 4-H Club met for a hamburger fry at the Lawrence Short home on Monday, August 21st.

The meeting was called to order by Jim Fox. Talks were given by Charles Baker and Jeff Mason.

New officers for the coming year are Art Moss, president; Steve Maurer, vice-president; Rodger Heaton, secretary; John Potter, assistant secretary; Mary Heaton, reporter; Jeff Maurer, assistant reporter.

Recreation officers are Mark McNeeley and Darrell Quigg; Safety officer, David Quigg; Health officer, Keith Short; and Scrap Book, David Quigg and Mark McNeeley.

The Federation delegates are Steve Maurer, David Quigg, Art Moss, and Don Heaton, and the Junior Leaders are Art Moss, Don Heaton, and David Quigg.

CHAPIN — Members and leaders of the Chapin Top Notchers Girls' 4-H Club enjoyed a day in the outdoors when their first day camp was held on August 21 at the farm pond area of the Lavona Schone farm home.

The Junior Leaders, Lavona Schone, Marilyn Schroeder, Mary Middendorf assisted by a member, Janet White, planned the day's event.

A polluck dinner was enjoyed at noon with the table prayer given by Lavona. The afternoon was spent in playing games, scavenger hunt, and fishing. A business meeting was held to plan some closing 4-H club events during the next week.

The day closed with a vesper service near the water given by the Junior leaders.

The Jr. Horseman's 4-H Club met Tuesday, August 22, at the home of Laurie McColloch, with all members answering the roll call.

The record books were turned in, and the window display was discussed. The club also discussed where the next meeting should be held.

After the meeting games were played and refreshments were served.

AUTO CLOCKS CAN BACKTRACK
DELAVER, Wis. (AP) — Correct your fast-running auto clock by adjusting it counter-clockwise.

Most car owners do the opposite. They move hands only forward, or clockwise, because that's what they've been told to do with their wristwatches.

But auto clocks get information from the direction in which hands are adjusted; they automatically put a compensating correction into the works. Moving the hands one way only can subvert this feature and cause a breakdown.

If your clock runs slow, move the hands forward.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Just before dawn on July 4, 1817, construction began on the 363-mile-long Erie Canal, says The World Almanac. Eight years later, the $7 million waterway was opened. The Erie is now celebrating its 150th birthday and still carrying tons of cargo each year.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Aug. 31, the 243rd day of 1967. There are 122 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1914, the Germans defeated the Russians in the Battle of Tannenberg in World War I.

On this date: In 1880, the late Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands was born.

In 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a neutrality act prohibiting the export of arms.

In 1940, the British Royal Air Force attacked the center of Berlin for the first time in World War II.

In 1954, scores were killed as Hurricane Carol battered the Northeastern United States.

In 1964, the U.S. Census Bureau announced that California had overtaken New York and become the most populous state.

Ten years ago — Afghanistan said it would receive $25 million worth of military assistance under an arms agreement with the Soviet Union.

Five years ago — Members of the National Farmers Organization in 16 Midwestern states started withholding some products from market in an attempt to raise prices.

One year ago — The Soviet government ordered the U.S. Embassy in Moscow to halt distribution of a Russian-language edition of the Warren Report, claiming it slandered the Soviet people.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31 — Born today, you have great confidence in your own abilities but are inclined to have too little faith in the abilities of others. For this reason you often take on much more responsibility than you need to and find yourself overburdened with work while others — others who could do the job as well — are left with little to do. Do yourself a favor; learn to trust both the judgment and talents of other people.

You are demanding in your relationships with others — but no more so of others than of yourself. You give and expect to receive loyalty and affection in great measure and so long as the receiving is equal to the giving you are satisfied. Let others begin to take advantage of your affections, however, and you can become an enemy.

Highly intelligent and, at the same time, deeply emotional, you may often find yourself at odds between what you know with your reason and what you feel with your heart. This is especially true when it comes to love, and you may well be one who has a hard time pinning your affections on one really worthy of them.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, September 1

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Refuse to overexert yourself today, no matter what the incentive. Success will be no good to you if you're too tired to enjoy it.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — Let things progress in normal fashion. The more orderly your advance at this time, the more certain your success in the end.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) — Don't try to make of this day something it isn't fated to be. It's an ordinary day filled with ordinary activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — Results of past performance should be appearing now. If you've been conscientious about doing your duty, you've nothing to fear.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — The help you give to others now should help weave the cloth of your future success. A good reputation is vital.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — Keep to regular routine and a regular schedule. If you expect a banner day you're doomed to disappointment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) — A day when you may have to choose between two courses of action. Choose right and you should be on your way to great success.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) — A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. Look over any new proposition carefully before you give up all you have now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) — Moderation in all things should be your motto for the day. This is no time for going overboard about new methods.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — Though you may make little progress on your own today, team up with another and it may be an entirely different story.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — The wise Cancer will make as few changes as possible at this time. A stand-pat attitude will put you in line for a better future.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — Once more you would be wise to take care in your dealings with others, especially strangers. Trust your own instincts.

Says Guerrilla Leader

'Castro Playing Last Card In Losing Game'

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — "Fidel Castro is playing his last card in a losing game, but he doesn't know it. He just doesn't know how desperately bad things are going for violent revolution."

The speaker was Ramon Vargas, 25, former commandante or major — the highest rank in a Castroite urban guerrilla unit. With him was an equally disillusioned comrade in arms, Julio Romero, 24. Both were arrested last March in a crackdown by Digepol, the Venezuela secret police.

Wearing casual civilian clothes, they sat in the office of Dr. Nelson Lehmann, 30, the boyish-looking head of Digepol — General Directorate of Police and talked freely if acidly about Castro's program for hemispheric political violence laid down at the recent Havana conference.

The pair also spoke authoritatively.

Vargas, a university sophomore, had been in the urban guerrillas since 1960, he said, and his superior was Douglas Bravo, Castro's No. 1 guerrilla leader in Venezuela. Bravo and Luban Petkoff head what's left of the battered Armed Forces of National Liberation or FALN, the Castroite guerrillas in the mountains.

Romero, a militant in a Marxist splinter of the ruling Accion Democratica party, said he served a two-year hitch with the mountain guerrillas before joining the urban ranks.

Neither has been in Cuba but their colleagues' experiences there are well known to them. Venezuelans attending the Havana conferences, they said, give their Cuban hosts distorted accounts of the situation at home.

"Fidel gets a blown-up, inaccurate idea of what's really going on," Vargas said. "The whole thing is being done only to justify the enormous subsidies they receive, as much as a million sometimes."

A million dollars? "Yes," he explained, "and sometimes less. Petkoff once returned from Cuba with 60 men and $700,000."

The entire Venezuelan guerrilla movement, Romero estimated, has less than 1,000 men under arms and split into small groups.

"The movement will collapse of its own weight," he said. "There is a poverty of ideology with bitter rivalries for hegemony among various groups. Everybody wants to be boss and few want to fight. Finally, an infantile left has moved in, young fellows interested only in terrorism."

FBI Computer Handling 10,000 Problems A Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI's new crime fighting computer is busy handling nearly 10,000 problems a day—including trying to help police departments across the nation locate fugitives and stolen cars, the bureau said Wednesday.

That's the first progress report on the memorizing computer—known as the National Crime Information Center—in an article in the FBI's monthly "Law Enforcement Bulletin."

But neither the article nor FBI officials would say how many fugitives the computer-supplied information has helped capture, or how much stolen property has been located since the computer began operating last Jan. 27.

The bureau said, however, that the speed with which the system operates has "more than exceeded expectation."

It said police agencies asking the computer about wanted fugitives and stolen property are given answers within 15 seconds from the time the last character of the incoming message is received by the machine.

Further, the FBI said, an inquiry from the street—a patrol car or an officer on foot—transmitted by radio or telephone to a dispatcher and then to the computer "can be answered back to the street in 90 seconds."

The FBI said "the system has been very successful, even with a limited data base and a limited number of inquiries, in the apprehension of interstate fugitives."

It said these fugitives often have brushes with the law and when they are arrested local police agencies, through the computer, can obtain immediate information on whether they are wanted elsewhere. The fugitives are then held, rather than released.

Mississippi Negro Vote Has Little Effect

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's growing Negro vote left little impression Wednesday on Democratic runoff results that swept conservatives into state offices and crushed all 22 Negro candidates in local races.

Although Negro leaders conceded the Negro vote was split across the state, civil rights leader Charles Evers said he sent a telegram to President Johnson asking him to order new elections in three southwest Mississippi counties with big Negro majorities.

As vote-counting from the second primary ended Tuesday night, Evers had conceded "A lot of Negroes still don't believe the Negro can do the job like the white man."

However, Evers contended Wednesday the results were "outright robbery" in Claiborne, Jefferson and Wilkinson counties, where his Negro candidates lost to white opponents. He said Negro poll workers were not allowed to help Negro voters or to help tally the votes. "I don't mind losing, but let me lose fair," said Evers, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In Washington, the Justice Department had no information available from the observers it had sent into 14 Mississippi counties to observe the voting.

Negro votes also helped Rep. John Bell Williams, outspoken foe of the Lyndon Johnson administration, overwhelm State Treasurer William Winter in the governor's race.

With 2,028 of the 2,124 precincts reporting, Williams had 362,269 votes to 304,195 for Winter, who tried in vain to shake the liberal label Williams attached to him.

Williams succeeded in taking six counties in the heavily Negro Delta area along the Mississippi River, while also smothering Winter in the hill area of the southeast that went for white supremacist Jimmy Swan in the first primary. Swan ran third in the first round.

Williams emphasized his opposition to the Democratic administrations of recent years and told how he bolted to the Republican presidential ticket in 1964. The bolt, he said had cost him his 20 years of seniority in the House of Representatives and committee assignment benefits.

The conservative tide also swept Charles Sullivan to victory in the lieutenant governor's race. Sullivan led State Rep. Roy Black 366,757 to 277,704.

Pat Standish Crowned Queen Of Cass County

VIRGINIA — Miss Pat Standish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Standish of Chandlerville, was chosen Miss Cass County at the Cass County fairgrounds Wednesday evening, Aug. 23. The first runner-up was Miss Sherry Bomke of Virginia.

Other contestants in the contest were: Miss Chere Pettit, Miss Debbie Garver, Miss Joyce Dotzert, and Miss Karen Owens of Virginia; Miss Janet Bradshaw and Miss Marilyn Clemons of Ashland and Miss Jill Cox, Miss Jackie Vincent, Miss Mary Ann Pilger, Miss Dianne Lashbrook, Miss Merrell Kinstle, and Miss Cindy Wessell of Beardstown.

Dancing with music by the Holidays was enjoyed in the High School gym after the crowning of the queen by the 1966 Cass County Queen, Miss Sandra Greer.

Virginia Day Unit of Homemakers Extension Service met Friday morning, August 18, for a breakfast at the Rossi Restaurant.

Mrs. William Petefish, chairman, presided over a short business session. Mrs. Margaret Cline is in charge of the plans for food to be donated to the 4-H fair. She is also in charge of the chores of those assisting at the food stand.

The September meeting will be held at 2 p.m. September 18, at the home of Mrs. C. K. Heibred.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mefford of Springfield, were guests of Mr. Mefford's mother, Mrs. Jesse Mefford, on Aug. 19 and 20.

Mrs. C. A. Meneses returned to her home here recently after spending a week with her son Robert and family of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Her son Charles Meneses and family took her to Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Harrison and family, former Virginia residents, left for their home in Beloit, Wisconsin, recently after spending several days with relatives in this city.

Chandlerville

CHANDLERVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. George Hampton and Wadine returned home Wednesday, Aug. 23, after visiting Mrs. Hampton's father, Marion Hohmer in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cadamuro and Abbie Jo of Miami, Fla., arrived Tuesday for a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cook, Janet and Eddie of Batavia were recent week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Harbison.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis were Mrs. Jerry Swank and daughters, Karen, Kathy and Christa and her sister, Miss Holly Miller of Peoria. Miss Miller who won first place in organ competition at the Illinois State Fair, also visited Mrs. Glee Davis and Mrs. Tillie Cook Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Edwards of Beardstown were visitors of his mother, Mrs. Florence Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson and family of Canton visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Anderson recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vaughn of Chandlerville, Mrs. Eunice Turpin and granddaughter of Canton, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Vaughn and Matthew on Aug. 20th.

TWELVE ATTEND LIONESS MEETING

Twelve members and one guest, Marilyn Lattimer, daughter of Lioness Margaret Brewer, attended the Lioness meeting held August 24 at the Virginia Country club.

President Florence Murray gave the invocation. During the brief business meeting minutes of the board meeting were read by Pauline Lair, secretary and approved. Margaret Brewer read the treasurer's report.

A contribution was voted to the Red Cross toward the purchase of kits for servicemen and refugee children in Vietnam.

Opal Waggener's and Charlene Strubbe's birthdays were recognized.

Charlene Strubbe and Catherine Taylor, delegates to the Lions Golden Anniversary in Chicago, were presented by Esther Schuette, chairman, and gave reports of the convention.

The lovely floral centerpiece arranged by Lucille Walters was awarded to Florence Murray.

BIG PROPERTY OWNER

NEW YORK (AP) — Closing its 1967 assessment books, the New York City Tax Commission reported the city had 826,898 parcels of ordinary real estate, including tax-exempt properties. Total taxable assessed valuation for ordinary real estate was over $27.8 billion. Real estate of utilities was assessed separately, totaling about $3.2 billion.

Confirm Marshall Selection

MONITOR SURVEY SHOWS JOHNSON CAN BE DEFEATED

BOSTON (AP) — The Christian Science Monitor said today that survey it took shows President Johnson "definitely can be defeated" if he runs for re-election in 1968.

In a copyrighted dispatch by its Washington correspondent, Godfrey Sperling Jr., the newspaper—which describes itself as politically independent—said a state-by-state survey of political writers showed these points:

"President Johnson won't necessarily be beaten, but he definitely can be defeated. There are 28 states with 322 electoral votes in which he is 'definitely vulnerable' now. In another 16 states with 156 electoral votes he is 'possibly' to 'moderately' vulnerable. Only in six states with 50 electoral votes was 'little' or 'no' vulnerability found."

"Mr. Johnson is vulnerable on four counts: 1. Handling of the Vietnam war; 2. rioting and the rising crime rate; 3. the proposed income surtax and rising cost of living; 4. irregularities in the anti-poverty program."

"The assessments of presidential vulnerability do not always carry a forecast of GOP victory. Often there is this qualification: 'If the Republicans can put up the right candidate, or, 'the President will still win if he can get out of this Vietnam War,' or, 'We can't overlook the President's ability to bounce back.'"

"The seriousness of the anti-Johnson sentiment is shown in the fact that so much of it is found in the Democratic ranks."

JAPAN POPULATION DOWN
 TOKYO (AP) — For the first time this year Tokyo's population showed a decline Aug. 1, the metropolitan government announced, due mainly to moves to the suburbs. The official estimate put the population at 11,175,832—down 6,874 from the July 1 figure.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, the first Negro nominated to the Supreme Court, won solid Senate confirmation Wednesday, 77 days after President Johnson named him to the high tribunal.

The vote was 69 to 11 with all of the opponents being from the Deep South except Sen Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. All 11 are Democrats except Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Marshall probably will not be sworn in until the court begins its new term in October, if tradition is followed. It has been in recess since June.

After the vote, Marshall declared, "I am greatly honored."

"Let me take this opportunity," his statement said, "to affirm my deep faith in this nation and its people, and to pledge that I shall be ever mindful of my obligation to the Constitution and to the goal of equal justice under law."

The senators who opposed Marshall said they did so because he is an "ultra liberal" and "a judicial activist" in his constitutional philosophy. But supporters said they are confident Marshall will make a great justice on the basis of his record as U.S. solicitor general, his current job, and as a U.S. circuit judge before that.

Neither supporters nor backers made Marshall's race an issue, but his appointment was described as a symbol of hope and progress for Negroes.

After the vote, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said: "This is a shining hour for Mr. Marshall, President Johnson, the Senate and the United States of America."

The confirmation demonstrated that "what counts is what you are, not who you are or who your ancestors were," Mansfield added.

Aiken Blasts Observers' Role At Viet Elections

Says Move Will Hurt Viet Pride

WASHINGTON (AP) — George D. Aiken, dean of Senate Republicans, says the poll-watching mission of 22 prominent Americans in South Vietnam "can't amount to a damn."

Furthermore, the 75-year-old Vermont said in an interview Wednesday, the South Vietnamese had good reason to be humiliated by the arrival of the White House task force, sent by President Johnson to observe the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

Former Premier Tran Van Huong, a leading civilian candidate for the South Vietnamese presidency, said Tuesday that the observer group is causing the Vietnamese people "grief and humiliation."

The Saigon military government requested the observers after several influential American senators expressed belief that the election would be rigged against civilian candidates.

"The very least we could do is ask the South Vietnamese to come over here and supervise our elections next November," said Aiken, who has been in the Senate since 1940, longer than any other Republican.

Aiken, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and a frequent critic of the administration's war policies, termed the appointment of the observer group a "long shot on the part of the President to bolster his position."

He acknowledged that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky asked for the American observers.

"But he was told to by the White House, I think," Aiken said.

"If a situation arises that you don't want to face, you appoint a study commission," Aiken said. "So the President appointed this 22-man delegation, all of them supporters of his Vietnam policies.

"The whole thing is nonsense. Who's going to write the report?"

The White House said no formal report is expected from the group, although individual members will be free to express their findings and opinions.

The delegation is not composed entirely of supporters of Johnson's Vietnam policies, although one of the President's leading critics, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., declined to serve.

One member of the observer group, John S. Knight, publisher of the Knight newspapers, commented that he did not know why Johnson selected him as a member of the group because he said he has opposed American involvement in Vietnam since 1954.

The observers, making the trip at government expense, arrived in South Vietnam Tuesday and are expected to return to the United States about Sept. 6.

FEAR GRAHAM CRUSADE WILL HARM K.C. GRASS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — There is some fear here that folks will have too much zeal for being saved at an upcoming Billy Graham crusade—too much, that is, for the good of the grass in Municipal Stadium.

Graham's nine-day crusade opens Sept. 8 in the same stadium used by the cellar-dwelling Athletics of the American Baseball League and the defending champion Chiefs of the American Football League.

Everyone's being extremely polite about the situation. But as stadium director John Antonello understands it, "Those who want to be saved sort of indicate as much to Billy Graham, and then they sort of wait around awhile until he's finished."

He added if there are many waiting to be saved out there on the grass, "it might have sort of a tendency to kill out the grass."

The religious meetings end Sept. 17, and the Minnesota Twins come in for a baseball game the following night. In the tight American League race, the game could mean the penant to the Twins.

Besides, stadium officials want to be sure their grass looks good when the Chiefs' games are televised in color this fall.

Representatives of the Graham crusade, the A's and the Chiefs will get together Thursday to draw up ground rules.

GOVERNORS END CONFERENCE WITH NEWS FROM LBJ

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP) — Midwestern governors completed their annual conference Wednesday with good news about highway funds from President Johnson in Washington.

In a telegram to the Midwestern Governors' Conference Johnson announced he had instructed the secretary of transportation to make immediate appropriation of $4.8 billion in highway funds for the next fiscal year.

Earlier in the day the conference had passed a resolution asking federal guidelines for planning and restoration of reduced highway funds.

In another message from Washington the 12 governors were informed additional had been granted in whi reorganize Army Nat Guard units. But it was sh what the conference had requested last Monday.

The governors, at the session of their three-day ference, adopted a number resolutions, most of them ing toward better cooper between federal and state ernments.

It Takes Pace-Setters To Make Progress

Real progress calls for inspired, hard-working leadership... the kind of leadership supplied by the men and women of the Illinois Electric Cooperatives who help set the pace for progress in rural Illinois.

These pace-setters know that the demand for electric power in rural Illinois will more than double within ten years. They are leading the way to more abundant supplies by building and working today to meet tomorrow's needs and eliminate the risk of power shortages.

The Electric Cooperatives of Illinois are also leading the way to ever-lower power costs. Only a few years ago, the Electric Cooperatives supplied the leadership to bring abundant, dependable power to every part of rural Illinois. In the same tradition, they are now working to increase and improve service, lower costs and guarantee a constant power supply.

The men and women of the Electric Cooperatives of Illinois are setting the pace for good citizenship and that is good for all of Illinois.

MONEY CLIPS

by Mort Reed

The Fabulous "Piece of Eight" Part II

Worn, counterstamped, chop-marked but intact, the Spanish dollar could literally circulate around the world on its face. Many countries using it as "hard money" had no way of determining the actual silver content but they knew it to be acceptable in trade with any merchant, so they asked no questions. This made it impossible for any government to build a reserve of this precious coin.

Since recognition was the dollar's second highest virtue, it was unwise to melt it down for domestic coinage, so disfigure-

In the West Indies, Grenada and Curacao adopted similar methods of holding the Milled Dollar. They sectioned the coin, with each section containing more silver than the counterstamp indicated. Grenada used the 11-wedge principle, with each wedge valued at 9 pence and stamped with the letter G. Curacao divided the dollar into five equal wedges, each affixed with a rose.

Madagascar was a little crude in domesticating the Piece of Eight. There the dollar was chopped into smaller pieces and traded or exchanged according to weight. This way the fragments could be mixed with chopped silver coins of other countries without too much protest from the receiver.

Rasoheri-Manjaka, queen of Madagascar from 1864 to 1868, was buried in a coffin made of 30,000 silver dollars.
